

The screenshot displays a software interface with a list of items on the left and a table on the right. The table has a green header and contains several rows of data. The interface is enclosed in a blue border.

This block contains six architectural floor plans arranged in two columns and three rows. Each plan is enclosed in a red border and includes a red legend on the right side. The plans show a building layout with various rooms and corridors, with some areas highlighted in green and yellow. The plans are arranged in a 2x3 grid.